ABOUT THIS COURSE

The CHC43115 Certificate IV in Disability is Australia's latest disability training course.

If you are currently employed in the disability sector supporting people with disabilities, either individually or in group homes, by developing and facilitating programs that address social, behavioural, welfare, developmental and protection needs and engaging with NDIS requirements then this course is appropriate for your professional development and sector learning.

Throughout this course you'll learn how to provide support to meet personal care needs, implement individualised plans and empower those with disabilities.

You will learn:

- Support settings for people with disabilities within in-home, group home, respite and/or community settings
- Ensuring the safety and overall well being of clients
- Providing guidance, support and developing life skills with clients
- Support models and sector requirements
- Managing challenging behaviours including verbal and physical aggression, property damage and self harm
- Building community inclusion into every day practices.

Train4Life has clustered the CHC43115 to create a more effective and easy to follow learning experience. By grouping together similar course units, we have minimised the amount of repetitive course work you have to do to gain your qualification.

Our CHC43115 Certificate IV in Disability is a nationally accredited qualification, presented by a well-known industry leader with many years of disability work experience, Annie Drage.

Train4Life uses a unique system of narrative learning, using real life industry stories, addressing industry trends, and understanding and applying industry resources.

Supporting a best practice qualification that suits busy sector workers has lead us to create an innovative program with a delivery and assessment mix between:

- Gathering of workplace evidence (incident reports, copies of policy and procedures, client plans)
- Recognition of prior learning (attendance at workshops, completed qualifications, in-house training)

This course is a Skilled Capital funded course. Skilled Capital is an ACT government training initiative funded by the ACT and Australian Governments.

- Group work (in class assessments, role plays, peer assessment, sharing of stories)
- Third party evidence (supervisors or co-workers attesting to your skills and knowledge)
- Online assessment work

Recognition of Prior Learning

Train4Life recognises that knowledge, skills and competencies can be gained in a variety of ways including formal education, training, workplace experience or general life experience.

Recognition is the process through which students can gain entry to, or credit in, nationally recognised qualification courses based on competencies gained through formal, non-formal and informal learning. This may reduce the amount of assessments required.

Students applying for RPL are required to provide evidence to support their prior knowledge. Examples of evidence may include previously completed qualifications and/or statements of attainment, certificate of attendance for workshops/professional development sessions, workplace training records and position descriptions for relevant jobs. Students are invited to apply for RPL at the initial interview.
